

You are worthy. Of the love you've found in others, but are sometimes too nervous to hold. Of the love you breathe into the people around you. Of the love you're still learning to foster within yourself. Of love. Period.

MARISA DONNELLY

